Emergency Licenses

For emergency licensing situations, a temporary license file with all license features can be downloaded from the Uniface products download server at <https://download.uniface.com/downloads/emergency-license/> (login required).

The license file keeps you going for two weeks while you solve the problem with the help of license management (license.management@uniface.com) for the license itself or customer support (customer.support@uniface.com) for installation and use of the licensing software (DLM).

If you do not have an account for the Uniface product download server, then please register at <https://download.uniface.com/registration/>.
