the rationale of "on wish: xxxxx"

Author: ulrichmerkel@web.de (ulrich-merkel)

Hi,

the new wish application (in the current just-published state) does not support discussion and change of requirements so much.

Therefore I start a thread in the forum for wishes I add to the list. The forum provides better tools for a discussion, questions and answers.

The first post holds the information from the wish-application. And the URL of the record in the wishlist.

And the very first reply is just a carbon copy of the starting message.

Why this duplication?

I want to have the possibility to react on the discussion and modify my wish, become more precise on descriptions, accumulate some more ideas, provide more userstories, etc.

So as time goes by, we will see differences between original and current wish.

Success, Uli
